Race hate target 'ran for her life'

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A WOMAN who has suffered three incidents of racial abuse in the past seven months says the problem is getting so bad she feels threatened walking alone in her home town.

Margaita Lown, 35, has lived in Haverhill for the past six years, but says she has had enough of racist abuse directed not only at her, but also at her two white stepsons.

On the last occasions she says she ran for her life after being chased by three hooded youths who called her a "Paki" and said they were going to beat her up.

She said: "Is it going to take a black person to be stabbed around here before something is done about it?"

"This third incident was the final straw, I literally ran for my life because I could not see their faces and I did not know if they had knives. I was terrified.

"I am disgusted by it and I want people to know about the racism here in Haverhill. I am black and proud of it.

"I was born in this country, I am English and I have as much right to walk about without being threatened as anyone else does.

New group cleans up the square

A NEW group has been formed to tackle issues on a large housing estate.

21st Century Chalkstone was formed by the Chalkstone Tenants and Residents' Association (CATRA) to bring together various interest groups.

Chairman Ernie Goody said it had already held three meetings and some works had been carried out.

He said: "We want to see if there are ways we could improve the Chalkstone area, particularly Strassbourg Square and the surrounding areas, with a view to making the area more presentable and amenable to residents and visitors and to reduce petty crime."

"We wish to thank all those involved for the help they have given. We look forward to working with them to develop future ideas and turning these into reality."

Work carried out so far includes an improved walkway surface on ramps to the flats above the shops and the installation of hand rails.

Broken capping stones on the wall next to the Vixen pub and Londis shop have been replaced, and bricks replaced where they were missing in a section of retaining wall at the play area, facing the square. Some power cleaning has also taken place.

Havebury Housing has agreed to look at the ceiling of the walkway between the On Track office and the lower flats, which is in a poor condition. It also plans to provide some additional lighting.

Young ideas take flight...

CHILDREN took part in a paper plane challenge to raise cash for a cancer charity.

Twenty children cared for at Dizzy's Day Nursery in Hollands Road, Haverhill, aged up to 6 years, joined in the fun to raise money for the Children with Leukaemia charity.

The older ones designed, made and decorated their own planes before launching them.

Certificates were award and prizes given for the plane which flew the furthest, the best plane and the most interesting design.

Organiser Carly Wilson said it was hoped to raise more than £100 and a cake stall run in the morning had already raised £50.

The nursery caters for 70 families, and can take 40 children at a time aged from three months to five years.

A waiting list is held for places and anyone interested can call (01440) 706246.

Man in court over collision

A MAN arrested after a road traffic collision in Haverhill late last year will appear in court next week.

Wayne Howard, of Connaught Road, Haverhill, was taken into custody following a collision in the road on Saturday, December 27.

He has been charged with failing to report a collision and failing to provide a specimen. The 36 year old is due to appear before Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court next Tuesday.

Thieves raid waste sites

TWO thefts from a waste recycling site in Haverhill are being linked by police.

In the first incident at the Couplands Road site, between 6pm last Thursday and 6.30am the following day, metal and other items were stolen.

On the second occasion, between 6.20pm on Monday and 7.30am on Tuesday, electrical equipment and computer parts were taken.

Call Pc Victoria Anthistle at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 with any information.

New proposal for extension

REVISED plans to change the use of a barn to extend an existing home at The Cottage at Rowans, Calford Green, Kedington, have been submitted to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

The plans include installing a glazed screen at the front of the building, inserting roof lights, re-cladding the dwelling with weatherboarding and installing and altering windows.

Jewels go in shop break-in JEWELLERY and silverware were taken by burglars who broke into a shop in Clare after forcing a door.

The alarm sounded during the break-in at the shop in Church Street, at around 3.30am on Wednesday, April 15.

Call Pc Patricia Sinclair at the St Edmundsbury Rural South Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100 with any information.

Tools taken from container

A WACKER plate compactor and tools were stolen by thieves who broke into a container.

The thieves cut a padlock on the container in Camps Road, Haverhill, between 4.30pm last Friday and 8am the following day.

Call Pc Guy Ainsworth at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 with any information.

Vandals break house window

A WINDOW was broken at a house in Beech Grove, Haverhill, between 9am on Wednesday, April 15 and 10am the next morning.

Call Pc Colin Cox at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 with any information.

Trainer stole from children

A DISGRACED majorette trainer who has admitted stealing from children for a second time was told by a judge that she had only escaped jail because of her medical history.

Jacqueline Gehring was given a one-year prison sentence, suspended for a one year, after appearing at Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday.

The 32 year old, of Chapel Road, Ridgewell, had admitted three charges involving the theft of £3,600 from an Essex majorette troupe last year.

The money was to have paid for caravan accommodation for members of the troupe, aged between 4 and 17, when they took part in a competition.

John Donnelly, prosecuting, said Gehring paid the money into her own bank account and spent some of it.

Gehring had suffered from psychiatric problems for many years which affected her health.

Rex Bryan, defending, said a number of parents and

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

children had written letters of support for her and she wanted to continue working as a trainer.

He said: "She should never have been involved on the financial side, because she gets into a complete mess and does not know how to get out of it."

"She should have put the money into a separate account so that it was ring-fenced, but she put it into her own account and spent some of it."

"She has suffered from recurrent depression that affects her health."

The court was told that a confiscation order is being sought under the Proceeds of Crime Act.

Mr Bryan said although she was living on benefits, Gehring would attempt to pay back what she could.

He asked that no curfew be imposed on Gehring, as her daughter was very sick with a heart murmur and other conditions which meant she often had to be taken to hospital.

Appearing for sentence at Chelmsford this week, Judge Anthony Goldstaub QC said: "It is a mean matter, stealing people's holiday money."

"You have behaved disgracefully, stealing in effect those children's holiday money."

"The only fair way of dealing with you is by suspending the prison sentence I feel this behaviour merits."

"A further punishment as a mark of your shame is a prohibited entry requirement which means you cannot go to any licensed premises such as pubs or nightclubs where alcohol is served on the premises, which means your social life will be curtailed for three months."

"If anyone asks why, they will be told it is because you are a thief stealing from children."

"Were it not for your medical history I would send you straight to prison and if anything like this occurs again, that is where you will go."

Gehring was previously jailed for nine months by magistrates at Sudbury in January 2001 after she admitted stealing more than £5,000 from the New Image Majorette troupe in Haverhill.

Our Hospice at Home appeal hits its target

GENEROUS readers have helped us reach the £40,000 target of our St Nicholas Hospice at Home Appeal in just over a year.

Haverhill Chamber of Commerce, which kicked off the appeal in February 2008, has just handed over £3,600 from its business awards last May to help hit our target figure.

The remainder of the cash needed was presented at a chamber meeting on Monday night by pupils from Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College and Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College, some of them members of the Young Chamber group.

Samuel Ward raised £500 by selling calendars specially produced for the appeal by photographer George Impey and from a Stars in their Eyes contest. The cash was handed over by Tom Eames and Danielle Dent-Jones. William Howe and Dylan Naude from Castle Manor handed over £100 raised from selling calendars.

William said pupils felt the appeal was the most worthy cause of those they had raised money for.

The Weekly News launched the appeal to raise £40,000 to provide services for patients in the Haverhill area in their own homes, rather than them having to travel to St Nicholas Hospice in Bury St Edmunds.

We received overwhelming support and former Macmillan nurse Trevor Farrington and his team are already starting to offer the service.

Sarah Howard, chairman of Haverhill Chamber of Commerce, said: "The chamber is delighted to have had the support of its members and the local business community to help in raising these funds for St Nicholas Hospice at the last CB9 Business Awards. The enterprising spirit of Haverhill extends far beyond the profit motive, many people and organisations within our town work hard to raise funds for deserving causes.

"The prime objective of the chamber is to facilitate business and enterprise, however if we can raise funds whilst we fulfil this aim then we are going some way to realising our corporate social responsibility.

"It is great to see that our young people are also developing the values of enterprise and community spirit with both Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College and Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College presenting cheques to St Nicholas as a result of their fundraising initiatives."

More cash: Abbey Hunto and Sarah Howard.

Picture: Jo Deeks.

Editor of the Weekly News, Nigel Brookes, said: "I am truly grateful to all our readers and advertisers who have been so generous with their support for the Hospice at Home Appeal.

"As soon as we launched our appeal, readers started dreaming up a huge variety of ways to raise money for this very deserving cause.

"To have raised so much in such a little time is a magnificent achievement and is a reflection of the community spirit to be found in the town and surrounding area."

Ian Norris, community fundraiser, said: "This really is the most terrific achievement, and I am so pleased for all of those who have contributed. So many people have got involved and one of the most inspiring things about the whole appeal has been the way in which folk throughout the area have understood what we were trying to do and wanted to help.

"There are too many groups and individuals to name, but this really has been the 'people's appeal'. Everyone who put loose change in the boxes, bought the calendars and supported the events has helped us.

"Thanks to the Weekly News appeal, the community nurses are now working all over the area, helping our patients and their families at a critical time. This work continues, and I would ask people to please continue to support St Nicholas Hospice Care, particularly during the current financial crisis when finding money is so very difficult.

"On behalf of everyone – our nurses, our volunteers and mostly our patients, a really big thank you to the readers of the Weekly News."

'It feels like foreigners against locals here'

"I don't have a racist bone in my body, my husband is white and my foster mother is white. I do not judge people by the colour of their skin."

She said the first incident happened when she was with her 15-month-old daughter, walking near the doctor's. A young boy turned to his mother and said something offensive about her daughter.

"The mother said nothing and I could not believe it."

She added her sons had been taunted in the playground about her ethnicity.

"My whole family is British, I was born in Bedford and I have never come across this kind of blatant racism before. It has got worse since the recession.

"People are struggling and it is almost like foreigners against locals round here. I have never felt intimidated in my own country before.

"The police have been very good when I have reported incidents, but I don't think the law is strong enough to deal with this kind of racism."

Haverhill police sector commander Insp Andrew Mason confirmed two incidents had been reported.

He said: "We would strongly condemn any racism and would like to hear from anyone who has experienced incidents of this kind.

"We take this very seriously and I think the majority of people in Haverhill would be horrified by racism.

"In the last 12 months there have been seven reported racial incidents in Haverhill, compared to 15 the year before, showing we have more than halved it, so statistically it is a downward trend."

Unite to bring villages to life

STEP on the gas if you want to enter the Calor Village of the Year contest.

The competition is run by Suffolk Association of Local Councils, with sponsorship from gas supplier Calor.

Villages will be judged across areas including community, business, and communication.

This year the focus is on communities pulling together in good times and bad, for example in the recession.

Entries must be in by May 15.

Cllr Rona Burt, contest organiser, said: "When villagers work together to complete an entry, it brings alive a community spirit that just can't be replicated in any other activity."

Do a good deed to celebrate St George

Did you know today is St George's Day? You'd be forgiven if you didn't, given the lack of events to honour it. JACK GROVE asks why we don't celebrate England's patron saint's day.

Dragon slayer: St George, the patron saint of England, is renowned for his good deeds.

IF you are looking to attend a St George's Day celebration today, you might be searching a long time.

There are very few taking place and none organised by Cambridgeshire's local authorities.

While we are happy to belt out the national anthem before an England football or rugby match, or revel in the cricket team's success in The Ashes, the English's patriotism is hard to see on St George's Day.

Indeed, it's no exaggeration to say the boisterous drinking of St Patrick's Day is celebrated more than the non-event of April 23.

Now community leaders want more to be done to celebrate England's patron saint – and have launched a quest to find out what people think should be done.

Cambridgeshire County Council is urging residents to follow St George's legendary example by doing a good deed. In lieu of slaying a dragon, it suggests making a donation to charity, giving up time to support a voluntary project, or simply making someone a cup of tea.

Cllr Tony Orgee, council chairman, said: "It is such a simple idea and I would like to think reflects all that being English stands for."

"Despite our reputation for stiff upper lips and reserve, I think we all in our hearts know we would help people where we can."

"In the past there has been a great reluctance, almost embarrassment, about celebrating our patron saint's day – in marked contrast to the Irish, Welsh or Scottish. We would like to think the idea of doing a good deed could catch on around the whole of the country."

People sent in ideas for parades, giant tea parties and examples of local dancing when asked what should be done by the county council.

Ely and District Scouts will hold a St George's Day parade on Sunday with 400 youngsters flying their colours, led by the Littleport Band. Ely mayor Cllr Sheila Friend-Smith will greet them at Palace Green.

But no civic event is planned in Cambridge.

Liberal Democrats on Cambridge City Council, which meets tonight, want that to change.

Kings Hedges councillor Mike Pitt sparked a debate on the issue by putting forward a motion calling for the authority to examine ways to mark the day in the future.

He said: "St George is a symbol of multiculturalism. He is not only the patron Saint of England but of many other cities and countries in Europe and the Middle East."

"He is tightly connected to English tradition, yet was also a Roman soldier from the Middle East."

"Celebrating April 23 is particularly appropriate as England's national day because of its associations with Shakespeare's birthday, and the UNESCO International Day of the Book."

"Cambridge is an important city with its strong connections to education and books. It would be wonderful if we could stage a celebration that everyone could take part in regardless of nationality or religion."

Perhaps part of the problem lies with the remote figure of St George, who wasn't even English and, despite it being his trademark act, did not actually slay any dragons.

A respected Roman soldier, St George was executed for refusing to bow down to Roman Emperor Diocletian and denounce his Christian beliefs.

Bestowing all his wealth to the poor, his courage inspired leaders across the world, including King Richard who declared St George as England's patron saint. Henry III announced the Feast of St George should be celebrated on the date of the noble soldier's death – April 23.

It is these distant links to England that are perhaps why 40 per cent of people have no idea of who he is, according to a new poll by This England magazine, while one in eight people say they find it embarrassing or distasteful to see the Union Flag flying.

Editor Stephen Garnett said: "St George stands for everything that makes this country great – freedom of expression, helping those less fortunate, tolerance of other people's beliefs, kindness, and standing up for what you believe to be right. It's a travesty that this is being forgotten."

However, villagers in Waterbeach will be among those celebrating St George's Day.

The village's Beach Social Club will host its second annual sausage competition, in which the county's top butchers will compete for the coveted St George's Day trophy, currently held by Bent and Cornwall of Ely.

Coton's Morris Men will also provide some traditional fen entertainment as the celebrations continue into the evening.

Club steward Nigel Wooll said: "We are English and we should celebrate it. We seem to promote every other saint's day. Other countries are not afraid of celebrating their national days, so why shouldn't we?"

"We should be proud of our own country because there is a lot to celebrate about it."

Letter to husband devastates widow

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A WIDOW was left distraught after receiving a letter addressed to her late husband which offered him life insurance.

May Prior, 69, lost her husband Laurence just two weeks after he was diagnosed with cancer almost four years ago.

She then moved to Haverhill with her daughter Rebecca three years ago and cannot understand how the letter came to be addressed to her husband, as he had never lived in the town.

The letter from Sun Life Direct was addressed to "Mr Prior Decd" and urged him to secure valuable life cover, asking: "Could you spare 25p a day for those you love?"

Rebecca rang the company on the day the letter arrived, because her mother was so upset, but said the person she spoke to was rude and unsympathetic, saying her mother would be taken off the mailing list before hanging up the phone.

Mrs Prior is angry and upset to have received the letter.

She said: "I still think about him every day and it really did upset me to receive this. It is obvious that the 'Decd' stands for deceased. How can they send a letter to a dead person?

"How they got his name I don't know, because he never lived here. I feel quite concerned about it."

This isn't the first time they have had to get Mr Prior's name removed from a mailing list. Just after his death, Mrs Prior had to contact another firm after an unwelcome piece of mail for her husband arrived.

A furious Rebecca said of the recent letter: "It is ironic that it was life insurance they were offering. I was fuming and I asked them if they realised how stupid they were sending a letter to a dead person."

"My father died suddenly and I moved here with my mother to look after her."

She is just starting to get over it and she found this really distressing.

"They have obviously just bought a mailing list from somewhere and they don't seem to care about whether the information is correct."

A company spokesman said a letter of apology would be sent to Mrs Prior and an investigation was being conducted to find out how the error had occurred.

Drivers may face cut in speed limit

SPEED limits on major roads in south Cambridgeshire could be cut in a bid to save lives.

Highways bosses have begun looking at limits on some of the area's most important routes, including the A505 between Royston and Duxford and the A10 from Cambridge.

The survey follows new guidelines issued by the Government last year and will take natural obstacles and changes in road conditions into account.

Amanda Mays, head of Cambridgeshire County Council's road safety engineering unit, said new limits would be brought in if they saved lives.

Other roads on the list include the A1307 between Haverhill and Cambridge.

Ms Mays said: "We have an order-of-priority list of roads to reassess, but will get to all A and B roads in the county by 2011. Clearly routes with high levels of fatality will be looked at first."

"New speed limits are already operational on the A1307, and our main aim is to make it so that when people drive on a road they can feel the speed limit is appropriate.

"So if you are driving through a village you'll be going at 30mph, and if the road is bendy, or has a high accident rate it will vary accordingly."

Cllr Matt Bradney, the council's infrastructure chief, said: "I think these guidelines are a good thing – there has been talk of nationwide changes but at the end of the day you have to have the right speed limit for the right environment and these guidelines allow us to do that."

"The A1307 was the first road looked at, but there are a few more coming up."

"But we won't be introducing blanket reductions. We want to make it safer, not to make changes for the sake of it. There's nothing more frustrating than having a speed limit which is inappropriate."

Highways chiefs across the border in Hertfordshire have so far rebuffed calls for a 50mph speed limit on a stretch of the A505 between Royston and Baldock, saying the accident statistics do not show a need for it.

Doctor runs around Paris for patients

EXTRA equipment to help stroke patients recover will be bought for West Suffolk Hospital – thanks to the marathon efforts of a dedicated junior doctor.

Dr Julia Colston, 28, completed the Paris Marathon in five hours and 24 minutes on April 5.

The sponsorship money she has raised will be donated to the stroke rehabilitation ward at the Bury St Edmunds hospital, where she has been based for the past three months. The cash will be used to buy specialist chairs to help with rehabilitation.

It is the fourth time that keen runner Dr Colston, who lives in Cambridge, has taken part in a 26.2-mile race.

Last year she completed a marathon at the end of the IronMan competition in Switzerland and she has run in the London Marathon twice, raising more than £2,000 for charity.

Dr Colston, whose training regime includes running around six miles three times a week, said: "I took part in the London Marathon twice before, so it was nice to go somewhere different this time."

"The Paris route was also much prettier and more scenic than the one in London, and went past all of the main sites and tourist hotspots."

"I had a bit of a cold in the run up to the marathon so couldn't train properly for six weeks, which made it much harder on the day."

"The specialist equipment the sponsorship money will buy will prove hugely beneficial to our patients."

Dr Colston has raised around £500 for the ward so far. Anyone who would like to donate should visit www.justgiving/juliacolston

PSCO news was surprise

Sir, I was very interested to read the article in last week's Weekly News (PSCO on wards duty at hospital), and also very surprised to learn of this new initiative.

I am a member of staff based on one of the units/wards that the PCSO states she regularly visits and reading your article was the first I knew about her existence.

It concerns me as it appears to be typical of the NHS that the first knowledge staff have of many things is reading it in the newspaper.

I am also concerned as it could give a false sense of security to staff when the reality is that PCSOs are restricted in what they can do.

Money is there to fix the roads

Sir, Holes, more holes and craters – this describes many roads in Haverhill.

If money has been set aside for roads in Haverhill, why are so many still in need of repair. When will the work be completed?

I would like to put the record straight, to share with your readers the 2008/2009 revenue budget monitoring statement, December 31, 2008 records, which is produced by Suffolk County Council. Areas of under spend for 2008/2009 include:

■ £1 million on adult care services – yet despite this the Conservative-run council is determined to push up charges for home care.

■ £2.2 million on environment and transport – despite an obvious lack of maintenance on roads, Haverhill in particular.

■ £430,000 on bus transport – despite bus services being cut back due to a lack of finance.

■ £780,000 on waste disposal – due to the high levels of recycling in Suffolk.

The money is there and so many things desperately need doing. But the Conservatives would prefer to squirrel it away in reserves.

I have no doubt that monies have been provided to fill holes, many of which could be describes as craters. Cllr Marks assures us that The £1 million will be spent. The Labour group will be seeking some clarity on whether it has come from the Last week's Memories photograph, from our archives, showed Haverhill Air Cadet's athletic team collecting a trophy. It was taken in April, 1989.

Mark Almond recognised one of the team members – his brother. He said: "The photo was taken about 19 years ago.

"Simon is the cadet on the far left. I also recognise the others but unfortunately I am not very good with names. "I was at the time just leaving the Air Cadets to join the Royal Air Force and I am still serving to this day. I am currently stationed in Kent at our fire school as an instructor.

"Simon is now serving in the RAF as a physical training instructor and has been for 13 years. He is stationed at RAF Leuchars in Scotland and has been there for about five years. "As for the other lads in the picture, I think only two others joined the forces.

reserve of £2.2 million or this year's budget.

Of course, you have to have monies in reserve, there is no question that it is what the electorate expects from responsible councillors and politicians.

However, the figures shared have been put into a reserve of £74 million.

We pay our taxes to provide good services in all aspects of our needs in our communities. This is not the time to cut services, which impacts on employment and economic prosperity.

I have been asked the question: If vehicles are damages by the bad road surfaces, who is responsible? I would suggest you contact your insurance companies and let your local councillor know of any such claims for us to monitor the situation.

Homes sales on rise – agents

THE number of homes being sold in the region has risen – with March proving to be the best month for sales since June 2007, according to estate agents.

Chris Carey, head of residential at estate agents Bidwells in Cambridge, said: "In March we sold more houses in the Cambridge and Cambridgeshire area than any month since June 2007."

Mr Carey said one six-bedroom Victorian country house – Nine Wells House in Great Shelford – which is on the market at a guide price of £2 million has had 20 viewings in the space of two weeks.

Mr Carey said: "From the last quarter of 2008 to the first quarter of 2009 our new homes business is up 90 per cent quarter on quarter. If you compare that to the same quarter in 2008 it's up by 40 per cent.

"Sales of town houses and country houses are 26 per cent up on the last quarter of last year and 7 per cent up on first quarter of 2008."

Mr Carey said: "Prices have probably dropped around 20 per cent since the peak and buyers have now started seeing property prices become more realistic and affordable.

"People are recognising it is a good time to get on the property ladder and we have had a mix of first-time buyers and investors, which is good news."

James Barnett, head of residential at estate agents Savills in Cambridge, said: "Our house sales are up on last month and are about the same as they were in the same month last year."

WI members celebrate group's 25th anniversary

A QUARTER of a century was the landmark celebrated by Haverhill's Women's Institute at its April meeting.

A great time was enjoyed by 45 members and guests in celebration of the 25 years since the group started. The guests included Pat Collinson, the Suffolk West Federation chairman, Sue Beavan the group's WI adviser, and representatives from nearby institutes.

Sheila Peters, president, welcomed all and described proposals to commemorate the occasion. These include creating a special table cover, on which all members will write their names and embroider them, a new plaque for the tree planted in East Town Park, and a bursary to Denman College.

The speaker was Mr Richard Westcott, whose presentation was entitled "Confessions of a Pantomime Dame".

He showed how stage make-up is applied, as well as the padded underwear needed to obtain a feminine shape, and the very "over the top" costumes, used, and performed some of his Panto Dame repertoire.

Man spared prison for nightclub attack

A MAN who had previously been cautioned for racism narrowly escaped jail for a vicious attack in a nightclub which left a Lithuanian man with serious injuries including a detached retina in his eye.

Ipswich Crown Court heard that Niall Collard, 20, caused serious injuries to his Lithuanian victim by repeatedly punching his head. Victim Rimgaudas Jurkus still suffers from problems with his sight 20 months after the attack.

Judge David Goodin told Collard that the assault had been so serious that it clearly crossed the custody threshold but because of his age and an absence of previous court appearances the sentence would be suspended.

Collard, of Mallow Walk, Haverhill, was sentenced to 32 weeks in prison, suspended for two years. In addition he was ordered to pay £2,000 compensation to Mr Jurkus.

Collard had pleaded guilty at an earlier hearing to a charge of assault occasioning actual bodily harm.

Prosecutor Ros Jones said that on that evening in July, 2007, Collard had been with friends at De Niro's nightclub in Newmarket. Collard, who had been drinking heavily, was struck by a bottle which had been thrown and he looked up to the gallery above where Mr Jurkus and a friend was standing.

Miss Jones said that Collard shouted up to Mr Jurkus, who had just arrived on the balcony, and then confronted him demanding to know why he had thrown a bottle. Because he speaks little English, Mr Jurkus was unable to respond properly to the accusation.

Half an hour later as he was walking along the club's dance floor Mr Jurkus was struck by a blow from behind and turned to see that Collard had been responsible.

Collard then swung a number of punches at Mr Jurkus's head, striking him near his left eye and knocking off his glasses. Mr Jurkus tried to cushion the blows but he was struck again on the same part of his head before he managed to get away.

Security staff were called and both Mr Jurkus, who had also been drinking, and Collard were escorted outside. When police arrived Collard said he blamed Mr Jurkus for the bottle being thrown and admitted he lost his temper when Mr Jurkus was unable, because of his limited grasp of English, to respond.

Miss Jones said that Mr Jurkus, 22, chose to return to his native Lithuania to seek medical treatment.

Doctors discovered that he had suffered a completely detached retina in his left eye which required surgery to correct.

As a result of the injury Mr Jurkus continued to suffer pain in his eye, was unable to swim and could not use a computer for long periods.

The court heard that although he had not previously appeared in court, Collard had twice been issued with a caution by police, once for shouting racist remarks outside a Portuguese-owned shop and another time for being involved in an incident outside De Niro's.

Collard was ordered to remain under probation service supervision for 12 months and to be subject to a 7pm to 7am curfew seven days a week at his home address for the next 16 weeks. He was also banned from entering De Niro's nightclub for the next 12 months.

Twist revealed in hospital's phone fee controversy

ADDENBROOKE'S has been criticised for leasing an office to a firm that provides bedside phones for patients – despite one of its governors branding its charges "horrendous".

Hospedia, formerly Patientline, has faced criticism over the cost of incoming calls on its phones, which are billed to the caller at 39p a minute off-peak and 49p at peak times.

The hospital is currently deciding whether to follow Government guidance and let patients use mobiles on wards, which some believe will spell the end of bedside phones.

At a governors' meeting, Addenbrooke's patient governor Mary Chaloner described the incoming call fees "a horrendous amount of money".

A spokesman for Hospedia said the outgoing calls were charged at the national rate of 10p a minute.

He said trials were going on at some hospitals – but not Addenbrooke's – on lowering the cost of incoming calls, adding: "We are committed to bringing down prices and giving best value for money."

An Addenbrooke's spokesman said: "Hospedia has proved popular with users and the cost of an outgoing call is less than using a pay-phone."

Gardeners get ready for market

A GROUP which plans floral displays around town is preparing for its first event of the year – a gardeners' market and car boot sale on Sunday, May 17.

The Haverhill in Bloom group has already planted hundreds of bulbs around the town, as well as creating display beds, hanging baskets and planting trees. New projects planned for this year include more trees, new planted areas around town signs and work with schools to create community gardens.

The gardeners' market will be held from 9am to 2pm, with boot sale pitches available for £5 on the day. All profits will go towards enhancing the town with flowers.

Anyone who would like to become involved in existing projects or who has any other ideas for a community garden makeover can attend meetings held at the council offices in Lower Downs Slade on the second Tuesday of the month or call Valerie on (01440) 709099.

Music 'a nuisance'

HAVERHILL Town Council has objected to music being played outside a restaurant on the grounds that it could cause a public nuisance.

The planning committee objected to an application to St Edmundsbury Borough Council by Frankie and Bennie's to retain heated and illuminated parasols outside its restaurant in Ehringshausen Way, Haverhill, setting aside a planning condition that no loud speakers should be used for playing amplified music within the outside seating area.

The town council objected to the playing of music outside the premises as it could encourage non patrons to congregate and would be likely to cause a public nuisance. It also asked that the parasols and heaters should not be used after 11pm in the evening.

On TV: dyspraxia suffer Liam Plumridge.

Picture: Keith Jones 482414.

Parents will share tips at help group

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A teenager who joined a group with various disabilities for a televised trek across Ecuador has helped launch a new service for people with dyspraxia.

Liam Plumridge, 18, who was born in Cambridge and lived all his life in Haverhill, has dyspraxia, a condition which affects co-ordination, balance, fine motor skills, language, thought and perception. He was diagnosed when he was seven years old.

A major milestone in Liam's life was the trek in 2007 as part of the BBC 2 programme Beyond Boundaries and he also appeared on Beyond Boundaries - What Happened Next, which sees several of the participants from all three of the original series go back and talk about how it changed their lives.

Liam is full of hopes and dreams for his future - setting up his own voluntary public speaking service, winning awards and meeting politicians. He talked about his adventures at the launch of the new Dyspraxia Foundation Suffolk Parent Support Group.

Local group co-ordinator, Sarah Neale said: "I am pleased to invite interested parents to join me for meetings of the Dyspraxia Foundation Suffolk Parent Support Group, which will take place on the second Tuesday of each month at the Centre for Voluntary Agencies in Haverhill. You can meet other parents of children with dyspraxia to share your tips and experiences and I will talk about some of the things planned to try to help raise awareness of dyspraxia in Suffolk.

"My very special daughter, Sophie, was diagnosed with dyspraxic tendencies in October 2006. Bringing up a child with dyspraxia is a constant rollercoaster of highs and lows. This is my reason for becoming a local co-ordinator. Sophie, my family and I have learnt much along our journey and I know there are many more families just like ours. We should support each other and work together to help raise awareness of dyspraxia and what that means for our children."

The group will meet at the Centre for Voluntary Agencies, Lower Downs Slade, from 6.30 - 8.30 pm. Contact Sarah Neale at sdneale@sky.com or on (01440) 708102 for more information. Support for professionals and parents is also available from: the Dyspraxia Foundation, 8 West Alley, Hitchin, Herts. SG5 1EG; helpline: (01462) 454986 weekdays from 10am - 1pm; by emailing admin@dyspraxiafoundation.org.uk or visiting the website, www.dyspraxiafoundation.org.uk

Facing challenges: Cambridgeshire's Chief Constable Julie Spence.

There is still a lot to do, says police chief

IT'S been four years since Julie Spence took over Cambridgeshire's top policing job.

Since then the women's champion has faced new and tough challenges including an influx of migrants, sex and labour trafficking and the use of controversial new weapons.

Last week, Mrs Spence lost out on the post of president of the Association of Chief Police Officers (ACPO).

But she says her heart is still in Cambridgeshire and spoke about how her officers now "feel proud" to be members of a "good police force".

Mrs Spence, who was put forward for the post by her colleagues, has also ruled out going for the deputy commissioner's job at the Metropolitan Police after losing out to Sir Paul Stephenson for Britain's top job.

Northern Ireland police chief Sir Hugh Orde is the new ACPO president.

Mrs Spence said: "Sir Hugh will be a great president and I wish him well. I am looking forward to carrying on my work here in Cambridgeshire – there is still a lot to do.

Chief Constable Julie Spence talks to reporter RAYMOND BROWN about migration, how she turned around a "failing force" and narrowly missed out on a top job.

"The biggest challenge is to win people's confidence and we can only do that by doing a great job.

"After Soham we are dealing much more effectively with the media and giving more information to the public from when a body is found right through to the end of an investigation.

"And it's not just in the urban areas we have seen improvements. Rural communities often felt forgotten and we have done a lot of work stopping hare coursing and thefts of horse tack as well as other crimes associated with the countryside.

"People have now got a force to be proud of. We always try to explain what we are doing and how we are doing it. Officers I have spoken to have told me 'we are in a good force now'."

Mrs Spence, who became Chief Constable in December 2005, gained a national profile after speaking out about an increase in migrant crime.

She first sparked debate in September 2007 by raising the issue of the impact of immigration on Cambridgeshire which made it the fastest-growing county in the UK.

It is now home to 93 different cultures and 100 different languages.

Speaking last Thursday, she vowed to continue pressing the Government for extra cash to pay for more officers to deal with the increased population.

Her renewed call came despite reports that migrants are leaving Cambridgeshire as developers cut back on building thousands of homes in the county due to the recession.

And she has no regrets about highlighting the controversial subject.

"We have had a mature debate and many people now realise what an important contribution migrant workers make to the economy particularly in somewhere like Cambridgeshire," she said.

"I have spoken to a lot of farmers who say they need these workers but I am concerned about the vilification they have received. They do need a level of support and that does come at a cost."

Mrs Spence has also backed the use of Tasers after her force received 150 of the stun guns from the Home Office.

She said: "Batons and CS spray are not good for all situations.

"Tasers are a safer option than firearms which would have been used in most situations where a taser is required.

"It's safer for officers and for the public."

Onwards: slogging it out on a previous Oxfam walk. This year is the 42nd time it has been staged.

Call for teams to take on challenge

ORGANISERS of the Cambridge Oxfam Walk are urging people to band together and help the charity event beat the recession.

The walk, which takes place on Sunday, May 17, at Chilford Hall near Linton, attracts hundreds of participants, many of whom take part as teams.

A trophy donated by Cambridge Building Society is given to the team that raises the most cash. Rosie Blanning, spokeswoman for the walk committee, said: "This year is the 42nd time the walk has been staged, and there are just five weeks to go before it takes place. "We are looking for more teams to take part in the Oxfam Team Trophy, which brings a more competitive edge to the walk. The challenge is not based on who can walk the furthest – it is all about which team can raise the most money." The trophy has been won for the past two years by a team called The Overlanders.

The event has several routes on offer, varying from four miles, suitable for the whole family, to a marathon 26 miles for more experienced walkers. The aim is to raise money for Oxfam's emergency fund, which is currently helping more than a million people in Zimbabwe at risk from food shortages and diseases such as malaria and cholera.

To take part in the event, people can register online at www.oxfam.org.uk/walk or telephone 0300 200 1244. Registration forms are also available in Oxfam shops. Teams can be made up of five to 10 people.

Plea as thieves target plants

TREES and shrubs have been stolen in a spate of thefts from properties at Clare, Hundon and Wixoe.

Police are linking eight thefts between April 13 and April 19 and officers want to hear from anyone who may have been offered such plants for sale in unusual circumstances or at a fete or car boot sale.

Police would urge the public to be vigilant and report any suspicious persons or vehicles.

In Hundon at Lower Road, between Friday, April 17, and next day a shrub was stolen from a front garden and an attempt made to steal a second plant. A magnolia bush was stolen from a front garden in the same road on the same night.

Cinema launches babies 'special'

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

HAVERHILL Cineworld has been chosen as one of only two in the country to pilot special film screenings for parents and grandparents with their babies and grand-babies.

The launch of "CineBabies" at Haverhill on Monday will be the start of a series of weekly film screenings for the next three months.

Cinema manager Paul Willden said: "Cineworld understands that parents and grandparents still want to enjoy the wonderful cinema experience with their babies, and have launched "CineBabies" to make these special screenings as relaxed as possible.

"Pushchairs will be arranged in the auditorium so that parents and grandparents can easily access belongings and baby change facilities are available at the cinema."

The "CineBabies" films will run at reduced sound levels and with the house lights at quarter strength to minimise disturbance to babies.

Screenings will start between 12 noon and 12.30pm on Mondays, excluding bank holidays and school holidays, and will offer a choice of new and current releases. There is no charge for children of 18 months or less, with older children, for whom there will be a charge, only admitted if they are siblings.

Special screenings: Paul Willden to welcome parents and grandparents with babies.

Cineworld's marketing and communications manager, Luke Roberts said: "CineBabies" is a fantastic new offer for parents and grandparents to bring their babies along to the cinema and enjoy a great film in a safe and calm environment.

"All staff at Cineworld Haverhill will be on hand to help parents have the best cinema experience with their babies."

The Cineworld Cinema in Ehringshausen Way opened last October and is one of 75 across the UK.

Pupils to take bus trip to better living

TEENAGERS can visualise what they could look like in 30 years onboard a time-travelling bus hitting the streets of Suffolk this month.

The Healthy Ambitions bus's wake-up call aims to inspire youngsters to live healthier lives. It will visit schools in Haverhill and Newmarket from tomorrow onwards.

After being welcomed by a recorded message from top Ipswich Town footballer Jaime Peters, the teens will be given the chance to use special age progression software.

They can also make healthy drinks at the smoothie bar, as well as recording their own health pledges in a Big Brother style video pod.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

It is hoped around 3,000 11 to 16 year olds will take part during the two-week project, which will see the bus tour 14 schools across Suffolk.

Sally Hogg, head of health improvement partnerships with NHS Suffolk, said: "This innovative project will take the Healthy Ambitions Suffolk message directly into our schools to encourage and inspire young people to take small steps towards living a healthier lifestyle."

"The bus's route has been drawn up to cover some of our areas of highest need so that we can target the Healthy Ambitions Suffolk message in the places where it will have most impact. We hope we can show these pupils that by making healthy food choices and taking more exercise, they can reap the health benefits long into the future."

Following the bus's visit, schools will be given a DVD of the pledges their pupils have made so teachers can monitor their progress towards realising their healthy ambitions.

Pupils will receive a goodie bag packed full of Healthy Ambitions water bottles, pedometers and mobile phone charms, as well as information about where to get additional help, such as through the Suffolk Stop Smoking Service.

Regal snap for patient nature fan

KEEN bird watcher Rowland Cole was able to capture this picture of a splendid male Kingfisher using a long lens as he watched a pair of the shy birds from around 300 metres away in the Sturmer area.

Mr Cole, a member of the Suffolk Wildlife Trust, said the birds were notoriously difficult to photograph and would fly off as soon as they saw a person nearby.

He said: "The female flew off from the branch behind when I took the picture, or I would have got both of them."

"They are beautiful birds, but very shy."

"You often see them near rivers where they eat sticklebacks and insects."

Help recall store's town days of old

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A SUPERMARKET chain is asking customers to walk down memory lane and recall some tales of past shopping days as it prepares to mark its 140th anniversary.

Sainsbury's Haverhill is searching for loyal customers who can share their memories of the store to celebrate the milestone this year.

The store hopes to find customers who can reminisce about the days before the introduction of self-scanning checkouts, organic food and chip and pin.

It also wants to invite them to join in the forthcoming celebrations planned in store.

Steve Venters, Haverhill store manager, said: "We're looking for customers and colleagues who have interesting and quirky memories of the store, for example it would be great to find someone who remembers when the present store opened or our original site in

A CHANCE to discuss the shape of Suffolk's future is on offer in Haverhill next Tuesday.

The event is among a series of meetings being held across Suffolk this month to consult on plans by the Boundary Committee to change the system of local government in the county. It will be held at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College from 7pm to 8pm. More details are available at www.electoralcommission.org.uk/boundary-reviews

Fresh bid for home works

A REVISED scheme to alter a property at Snow Hill, Clare, has been submitted to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

The plan is for a two storey rear extension, single storey front extension, a conservatory on the side and replacement of a flat roof with a pitched roof on the garage.

Plans for extension

A PLANNING application to build a single storey rear extension, following demolition of an existing conservatory, at Broadcroft Crescent, Haverhill, has been submitted to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Music fans set for best of the Fest

NON-PROFIT charity music event FordhamFest is set to be bigger and even better this year.

The organisers of the festival, which runs from August 7-9, have announced Alabama 3 as the headline act.

The "acid-country" band, which has up to 10 members, is best known for the track Woke up This Morning which is played over the opening credits of The Sopranos television series.

They will be joined by 2-tone act The Beat and punk band Sham 69.

Mark Autey, organisers of the festival which is now in its sixth year, said: "FordhamFest is a non-profit making, charitable event in aid of Cam-Mind [the Cambridge-based mental health charity] as well as supporting the Teenage Cancer Trust."

Other acts in the line-up include James Taylor Quartet, Bicycle Thieves and Tell It To The Marines.

This year the famous Wigwam Stage joins FordhamFest from Cambridge's Strawberry Fair, to add to the main music and cabaret stages, while another crowd-pulling innovation features a 24-hour dance marquee hosted by the InAstate Soundsystem and Electronic Funk on the Friday.

There will also be a range of activities for children including a play area, story-teller, rides and workshops.

There will be no admission charge for under 14s.

Ticket prices are £45 for the weekend if booked by June 1 or £25 for Friday only and £30 for Saturday only.

Camping with tents is included with Friday, Saturday and weekend tickets.

Camper-vans and Caravans will be charged either £10 or £15 dependant on size.

Tickets can be bought online or in person at the following local outlets: Saucy Megabytes, in Soham's Red Lion Square; the Crown pub in Church Street, Fordham; The Griffin pub in Church St, Isleham; and Unique Thai Cafe/ Music Bar in Newmarket's Sun Lane.

Full ticketing and camping information is available online at www.fordhammusicfestival.co.uk

Sleuthing show

AUDIENCE members are invited to go along in 1920s period costume and help solve the mystery at Clare Amateur Dramatic Society's next production of Murder at Mallory Manor.

The show takes place at Clare Town Hall on Saturday, with doors open at 7.30pm for an 8pm start to the interactive Murder Mystery evening, set in the 1920s.

Tickets are £8.50 from Hudgins Hardware, High Street, Clare; The Bell and Orbell's Greengrocers, Market Hill, Clare; or by calling (01787) 278536, and include a buffet supper.

There will also be a bar and raffle, a Charleston dance competition and prizes will be awarded for guessing the murderer/s, as well as best costume and best Charleston dancer.

Silver spectacle

HAVERHILL Silver Band will be giving its first arts centre concert of the year on Sunday at 7.30pm.

Mainly light in nature, the band will feature music by composers such as Rossini, Respighi, Gershwin, John Williams and Irvin Berlin.

Four of the band's fine soloists will also perform such pieces as Be My Love – made famous by Mario Lanza – and Michael Jackson's One Day in Your Life.

Tickets are available by calling (01440) 714140, and priced at £6.50 or £5 for concessions.

The training wing of the band, Haverhill Youth and Community Band recently joined local band Hadstock Silver in a concert at Abington Science Park which raised £140 for the East Anglian Children's Hospice.

Cash concert

THE Man in Black is coming to town when The Johnny Cash Story walks the line at Haverhill Arts Centre on Saturday at 7.30pm.

The show is a must for anyone who watched and enjoyed the film starring Joaquin Phoenix, as well as all Johnny Cash fans. With his band The Crazy Boys, the star of the show Roger Dean takes you on a journey that not only tells the life story of this true American legend but plays the music that made Cash loved by music fans around the world. Ticket priced £12 or £14 are on sale now at the box office on (01440) 714140.

Arts festival set for dramatic conclusion

THEATRE companies from five counties are vying for glory at the Cambridge Drama Festival, all this week at the city's Mumford Theatre. Local entries in the 41st annual event include long-established groups like BAOWS, St Neots Players, Cottenham Theatre Workshop and last year's winners: the Waterbeach Community Players, as well as recently-formed school offshoots, such as Arbury Senior Drama Club (ASDC) and Sawston's Dramawise. All week, there will be quizzes and competitions, and BBC presenter Amanda Goodman and award-winning actress and director Judith Bowen will present the prizes at the event, which is also a first round of the All-

England Theatre Festival. Tonight sees the Wilstead Players' tale of life in a woman's hostel, Lucy in the Sky, go head to head with Waterbeach Community Players' For Starters about a businessman beguiled by a waitress. Tomorrow it's the turn of Cottenham Theatre with Albert, a classic comedy of linguistic confusion; It's all in the Mind, by the Stagefright group; and Branching Out, the tale of three eco-warriors, by Flying Horse Theatre. Saturday's finale includes ASDC's Garden of Fallen Tales about a young evacuee, take on the Barn Theatre's Hidden in this Picture, a satire on the Hollywood film industry. Nightly tickets cost £7, or £6 for concessions. Call 0845 1962320 to book.

Chimes, keyboards and a curious case

ENJOY a lazy scull down the Victorian Thames as George, Harris and J take a misadventure filled trip.

Bury St Edmunds Theatre Royal Rural Tour brings this witty new take on Jerome K Jerome's classic book Three Men in a Boat, to Haverhill on Friday, May 1, at 8pm.

Before that, the arts centre has a great line up for Band Night, on Friday, April 24, with doors open at 7.30pm and music from 8.15pm. Enjoy sets from the Long Bone Trio with Gary O'Connor of legendary 80's Haverhill punk band 13th Chime; Poontang featuring American vocalist Bobby Ray and long time Haverhill musician Steve Spall; and Indigo, a young indie band who were runners up in last year's rock contest. The gig is unsuitable for unaccompanied under 14s.

On Tuesday, April 28, Haverhill Keyboard Club presents the multi-talented James Sargeant at 7.30pm.

Winner of three Oscars and numerous nominations, The Curious Case of Benjamin Button (12A), will be shown at the centre on Wednesday, April 29, at 7.45pm. Brad Pitt plays a man born old who ages backwards. Tilda Swinton and Cate Blanchett also star.

Gomorrah (15) based on the bestselling book by Roberto Saviano, is showing at the centre on Monday April 27 at 7.45pm. It weaves five stories together and is set in a cruel and apparently imaginary world.

■ For more details about any of the shows or to book tickets, call the Haverhill Arts Centre on (01440) 714140 or go online and visit www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk

Wide choice of bulbs to plant for summer

We may still be admiring all our spring-flowering bulbs, as tulips and hyacinths come into their own, but if you want more bulbs in summer, it's time to start planting them now.

There's a wealth of choice for both containers and borders, from fragrant lilies and dahlias, to cannas, gladioli, crocosmia and the Californian firecracker, Dichelostemma ida-maia. The pineapple plant, Eucomis bicolor, was judged this year's summer bulb of the year by a panel of journalists and horticultural experts in an event organised by the Netherlands Flower Bulb Information Centre. Its striking pineapple-like tuft of colour, sitting above a rosette of wide, fleshy leaves, blooms in July and August.

Plant eucomis in groups in spring, to rise out of gravel in a scree bed or grit at the front of a border. It looks lovely with cream and green variegated hostas and purple heucheras.

While gladioli have earned themselves a reputation for being gaudy and difficult to place in a planting scheme, because their heavy spikes can look ungainly, some more subtle varieties are available. These include Gladiolus callianthus 'Murielae', which can be planted in April and May, either in deep pots or in good soil in the sun, producing deliciously fragrant delicate white petals with a deep burgundy blotch at the throat from August to October. Most summer-flowering bulbs, corms and tubers are sun lovers,

by Hannah Stephenson

so are ideal for patio pots. Some, such as tuberous begonias, need to be started indoors as they are not frost hardy and can be moved outside once all danger of frost has passed.

Tropical-looking cannas, which produce fleshy exotic leaves and spikes of vibrant flowers from early summer until mid-autumn, can also be planted in pots.

Start with the plants indoors in early spring, although I tend to leave my pots of cannas near to the house, covered with a mulch of straw over the winter, and they still come back.

They like plenty of water during the growing season and rich fertile soil, so grow them in large pots in John Innes No. 3 compost. Protect against slugs and snails, which love the young emerging leaves.

Of course, the jewel in the crown of scent has to be the lily, with its impressive trumpets of blooms in many colours. Buy bulbs as soon as they appear in shops and keep them cold until you plant them. Ideally they should be planted in early spring before they dry out. If you are planting summer bulbs in your beds and borders, draw up a design plan before you start. You don't want smaller bulbs being lost by larger perennials during the growing season.

Some bulbs are perfect for rejuvenating beds where annuals are running out of steam and perennials like lupins and delphiniums have been and gone. Foxtail lilies (eremurus), which come in a range of colours, produce tall bottlebrushes of flowers in midsummer, growing from one to two metres. They look lovely amid plantings of grasses and light perennials like Verbena bonariensis. However, they do have to be planted in early autumn in a sunny, warm, sheltered area to protect against strong winds. They need winter cold to flower.

Remember that most summer bulbs like heat, so a sunny spot is essential. They also need really good drainage, so add some grit or sand to the soil before planting.

As a general rule, plant bulbs at three times their depth below the surface of the soil or compost, or follow instructions given on the packet.

Some summer-flowering bulbs, such as dahlias, will need lifting at the end of the autumn and storing until next year. Others, such as the early summer-flowering allium, will go on for years with no fuss at all.

BEST OF THE BUNCH

- Magnolia

These stunning deciduous or evergreen shrubs and trees produce great saucers of star shaped white or pink flowers in early and mid-spring. Some are ideal grown as stand-alone focal points, although their flowering is short. The most impressive of the species is a tree, M. grandiflora, which will reach more than 20ft (6m) over a long period of time. It bears fragrant, creamy white blossoms between July and September. For spring flowers go for M. soulangeana, a spreading bush reaching more than 11ft (3.5m) high, bearing goblet-shaped purple-tinged flowers which open to white in April before the leaves. This one is perfect as a stand-alone specimen in a garden.

If you're after something more compact, go for the Star Magnolia, Magnolia stellata, a slow-growing deciduous shrub whose silky buds open to star-shaped white flowers in mid-spring. It grows to around 3m (9ft), has a neat habit and attractive leaves for summer. Magnolias need moist but well-drained, fertile, humus-rich soil in sun or dappled shade. April is the best month to plant them in a sheltered spot, away from cold winds. Don't plant too deeply and water any new bush well if there is a drought. Each spring apply a mulch of well-rotted compost around the shrub.

NCTJ

TRAIN AS A JOURNALIST

Journalism is often seen as glamorous and exciting but, as with any occupation, success comes only after much hard work and routine activity. However, each working day as a journalist is different and the training you receive will give you the flexibility to cover a wide range of news stories and features.

Journalism draws on all the knowledge and skills you have acquired and can give you a tremendous sense of achievement. If you've got what it takes, journalism could be the career for you!

SO WHERE DO I START?

The NCTJ is the principal provider of journalism qualifications and training and offers a wide variety of training and learning options to suit everyone.

NCTJ qualifications are what editors look for when they are recruiting trainee journalists and these can be gained through full-time, part-time, distance learning or on-the-job training courses. We also offer press photography and photo-journalism training.

For further information about training as a journalist, please visit www.nctj.com where you will find details of all courses offered, locations of study and details of educational requirements.

YOUR LOCAL LETTING AGENTS

Sell your property the CXG way...

Why sell the traditional way?

Get Estate Agents to value it and put it on the market.

Show people around the property
(mostly "nosy parkers" & sightseers).

If no offers received after 2 or 3 months, reduce price.

Show more people around.

Eventually accept an offer at between 5 & 10% off the advertised price.

Hope the sale doesn't fall through (over 30% of sales don't reach completion).

Once price agreed, wait a further 3 months for sale to complete.

Work out how many £000s it has cost you in reducing the price, making mortgage payments, paying Estate Agents fees and legal fees since you started the process (on average, 7 months ago...)

The simple alternative

-  Pay no Estate Agent's fees
-  Pay no Legal fees
-  No further mortgage payments
-  Have cash within days
(Instead of months)

Depreciation for city cars is slower

CITY cars are now retaining a higher percentage of their value than large luxury vehicles for the first time, according to figures from Glass's.

Small vehicles such as the Ford Ka, Peugeot 107 and Toyota Aygo are retaining an average 49.5 per cent of their purchase price after three years and 36,000 miles, which means they're depreciating at a slower rate than any other type of vehicle in the UK.

The effects of the recession means that small city cars have climbed from ninth place to top spot in just three years.

"The improvement in values of city cars is all the more remarkable when you take into account the massive growth in the supply of three-year-old examples. Annual sales in 2003 were 95,000, and by

A good buy: City cars are retaining their value in today's fast-changing used car marketplace.

2006 they had grown to 162,000," said Adrian Rushmore, managing editor at Glass's.

In contrast, luxury vehicles have been hardest hit in the downturn, with luxury saloons taking the biggest tumble.

The biggest surprise came in the shape of large SUVs, which have only fallen one place in Glass's new table of segment retained value, to second place.

"Image is all-important in this segment," said Rushmore. "Contrast the performance of prestige SUVs with those of their volume-brand equivalents, which have slipped from second to seventh place. These vehicles have increasingly fallen out of favour, a situation aggravated by a 40 per cent increase in the availability of used examples."

Some nifty used bargains to view

ANYONE who spends a large part of every month analysing car prices, like buyer advice website UsedCarExpert.com editor Matthew Tumbridge, notices certain patterns.

"For example, most mainstream large family saloons drop to a value of about £1,500 to £2,000 after eight years," he says.

"Which is less than a small family hatchback of the old or interesting transport, and while the day's focus will be on Vauxhall's own collection of more than 50 classic Griffin-badged classics, from 1903 onwards, access to the classic car area will be open to any make or model.

The person to contact for fuller details is Craig Cheetham, who can be e-mailed on craig.cheetham@gm.com.

The Seat Toledo: 'A good alternative'.

same age. Strange, but true."

Here, says Tumbridge, are just three the interesting anomalies the market is throwing up at the moment.

■ MERCEDES CLS: "This is the essence of class," states Tumbridge. "A £45,000 car at minimum when new, the CLS loses a big chunk of value over its first two years."

UsedCarExpert.com prices a 2006 320 CDI CLS at around £22,000 with average mileage of 37,000.

■ MG TF: "A friend's eight-year-old MG was recently written off, and the insurer only wanted to pay £2,000. But he was able to prove £2,700 was more like it," says Tumbridge. "Even at that price, it is great value, although tall drivers may find it a tight fit."

UsedCarExpert.com prices a year 2000 1.8 MG TF at around the £2,700 at independent dealers, and it should have around 40,000 miles on the clock.

■ SEAT TOLEDO: "Seat continues to demonstrate how expensive Golfs and Boras are," reckons Matthew Tumbridge. "This is a good alternative for less money – but not that much less."

UsedCarExpert.com prices a 2006 1.9 Tdi Stylance, with an average 25,000 miles, at about £7,400.

■ Vauxhall's Heritage Centre, in Park Street, Luton, is throwing open its doors this Sunday – April 26 – for the annual Drive It Day, to celebrate Britain's classic motoring genre. The site will be open from 10.30am, with a special parking area for those arriving in Breaking up ain't hard to do

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF)

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollution will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility.

www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF.

Get your brand closer to people's lives

No other medium is as close to people's hearts as Regional Press. Consumers consider it an integral part of their community.

The effectiveness of regional press advertising in driving sales comes down to the simple fact that people prefer to do most of their spending close to where they live.

Consumers' Choice V, a national consumer survey by TNS Media, found that regional press advertising is the most frequently acted upon, with 61% of people responding to it!

No wonder brands enjoy a closer relationship with consumers when advertised in this, the most trusted and effective medium of all.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE COUNTY COUNCIL TRANSPORT ACT 2000 CAMBRIDGESHIRE GUIDED BUSWAY QUALITY PARTNERSHIP SCHEME

Cambridgeshire County Council ("the Council") as a local transport authority hereby gives notice that it has made a statutory quality partnership scheme under Section 114 of the Transport Act 2000 ("the Act"). In accordance with Section 115 of the Act, the Council published notice of the proposed scheme and carried out a period of consultation in relation to the making of it. Having considered the responses received as a result of that consultation, the Council modified the proposed scheme and decided to make the scheme on 3 April 2009.

The scheme relates to the operation of local services using the Cambridgeshire Guided Busway ("the Busway") and associated facilities only. The Busway is currently being constructed by the Council under the provisions of the Cambridgeshire Guided Busway Order 2005 ("the Order") and comprises a guided busway on guideways from St Ives to Milton Road, Cambridge with Park and Ride sites at St Ives and Longstanton, a guideway to Kings Hedges Road Cambridge, and a potential further guideway spur to Chesterton Sidings and guideways from Cambridge Railway Station to the Trumpington Park and Ride site and to Addenbrooke's Hospital. Services running along the Busway will also be able to access Cambridge city centre and elsewhere on-street.

The quality partnership scheme prescribes standards of services for operators using the Guided Busway including standards in respect of vehicle age, vehicle characteristics and vehicle equipment, and operating standards including standards in respect of service punctuality, driver training, vehicle cleaning, safety and participation in a ticketing scheme. In exercise of specific powers under the Order, the quality partnership scheme also makes provision as to the frequency of services operating along the Busway.

The scheme will come into force on a date, not earlier than 3 months after the date on which the scheme was made, to be specified by the Council and will continue in force for 10 years.

A copy of the quality partnership scheme may be inspected during normal working hours at the offices of the County Council at Shire Hall, Castle Hill, Cambridge.

YOUTH SPORT: FOOTBALL AND RUGBY

Withersfield's awesome foursome...

WITHERSFIELD have landed their fourth consecutive Cambridge and District Colts League title – but this time the title race went right to the wire. They wound up their under-12A season with a 16-0 defeat of Buckden to come out on top in one of the tightest title races in the league.

Five teams were in the running in the final stages and manager, John Kennedy, said: "The standard of the A league in this age group is second to none, and for our boys to come out on top is a tremendous achievement. 'The bar will be raised next season which is why we would like local boys to join us. This age group in the town has a lot of talent on offer.'"

Murray Barker led the demolition of Buckden with five goals, the others coming from Joe Baker (4), Charlie Butler (3), Ollie Fish (2), Mitchell Burr and Henly Kennedy.

Interested players can contact Withersfield through their website. www.withersfieldfc.co.uk

West Wrating 8

Needingworth 0

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-12D

WRATING put the unknown quantity that was Needingworth to the sword with a quality team performance. They killed off an energetic, physical team before half time when they went in 4-0 up and stretched clear after the break. Lambert cracked a hat-trick, Stevenson scored twice and Bush, Scotton, and Bailey completed the scoring.

Linton Aztecs B 1

Grampian Gunners A 3

Cambs Mini League, Under-10

GUNNERS started well but could not beat a defiant goalkeeper and only took the lead thanks to an own goal. The visitors needed their own keeper Jones to keep the opposition in check until Aztecs equalised just before the break. Gunners, however, stretched away after the break thanks to goals from Woodley and Westley.

West Wrating 4

Haverhill Rovers 0

Under-11 friendly

CHARLIE Ellam went on the rampage in the second half as West Wrating adjusted well in their first home game on a full-sized pitch.

Keaton Dial, in only his second game, caught the eye and midfielder Dion Whitrid revelled in the extra space to give the side several positives from the game. Charlie Ripp had a goal ruled out for offside before Ellam struck all four goals after the break.

The previous week West Wrating lost 3-2 to an ad-hoc Grampian Gunners side – Jack Ferguson (2) and Jamie Lingard scoring for Grampian with Leyton George and Jesse Luff's stunner in reply.

Hundon Hawks 0

Grampian Gunners 1

Cambs Mini League, Under-10

A SECOND-HALF goal from Thompson sealed victory in an end-to-end encounter.

The Hawks keeper was on his toes to deal with first-half efforts from Robson and Woodley, but Gunners broke the deadlock a minute into the second half and retained it thanks to some good defensive work.

Harwich break Haverhill's hearts in Plate final

Haverhill's youth section felt they were unlucky not to come home with some silverware from the Hadleigh Sevens tournament.

They featured in two sides, with the A team narrowly losing the plate final to Harwich B.

Haverhill A won four and lost two of their pool games to finish third overall and earn a place in the Plate against a Harwich side they had earlier beaten 15-5.

And, in a close game, Haverhill were beaten 21-19 despite dominating most the second half.

The B side joined forces with Hadleigh B to make a squad of 12 players and, although they managed only one victory, the players worked well together against the A sides. That much was evident against Haverhill A, with the B team going close to an upset.

Fresh back from injury, forward Nathan Craig was outstanding.

FOOTBALL: HUNT GETS FOUR BUT ...

Spot-on Savage

Glemsford SC 4 Arrendene Athletic 4

(aet, Arrendene win 5-4 on penalties)

Treadfirst Sudbury and District Sunday League, Division Four Cup final

ARRENDENE landed the first stage of their league and cup double bid when they edged out Glemsford in a thrilling final.

It was the first piece of silverware in their short history, but they had to come from behind to win it, with Paul Hunt scoring all their goals, including a last-gasp effort to force extra time, and keeper Liam Savage making two crucial saves in the shoot-out.

Athletic trailed to an early 25-yarder, but Paul Hunt equalised after Tom Farlie's surging run to make it 1-1 at half time.

And that set the pattern for the scoring, Glemsford scoring but Athletic battling back to equalise through Hunt, who struck in the last minute to force extra time.

However, Savage came into his own when it came to the spot-kicks. Dan Edwards, Jake Hickey, Hunt and Ben Fisher all converted theirs, although Matt McBrien hit the woodwork.

Savage saved one to take the shoot-out into sudden death and, after the ice-cool Liam Botten converted, the keeper became Arrendene's hero when he turned Glemsford's attempt round the post.

Delaware Feather Angels 1

Woolpack 2

Treadfirst Sudbury and District Sunday League, Division Five

DESPITE having the better of the play, Delaware returned to losing ways, succumbing to a late goal. Mark Bailey missed several good chances before Woolpack opened the scoring with their first opportunity from a corner kick.

However, a tactical reshuffle at half time led to Delaware equalising soon after the break, Matthew Cullen's ferocious free kick, easily beating the keeper.

With five minutes to go, though, a weak long-range effort somehow found its way through a crowd and into the home team's net.

Home again as Artisans are crushed

>> GOLF

HAVERHILL adopted a businesslike attitude to their Tolly Cobbolt tie against Aldeburgh Artisans and moved into the next round after a 10-hole win.

They were five holes up in the morning session in the Suffolk competition – an inter-club foursomes event between teams of eight played over 144 holes – with the pairings of Andy Craig and Graham Ashcroft and Charlie Hudson and Duncan Galloway both being four holes up.

Lead duo Peter Garner and Dareagh Whelan came into their own after lunch, striding to a six-hole win, taking Haverhill into another home tie against Diss or Ufford Park.

Details (Haverhill names first): Garner & Whelan 3up v Walker & Kerridge, Craig & Ashcroft 4 up v Hegarty & Ashford, Lyons & Ward 3 down v Day & Manthorpe, Hudson & Galloway 6 up v Whiting & Treadwell.

The Hambro Cup team travelled to Aldeburgh and again came away empty-handed, suffering a 28-hole defeat, but Sue Carr and Pat Kennedy continued their run of success in the Daily Mail Foursomes.

Drawn at Royston, they were three-holes up before they conceded the next four. However, they steadied themselves to win by one-hole.

Haverhill seniors were whitewashed

Sand and deliver: Haverhill's Andy Craig splashed out of a bunker. CP in their annual game against the juniors before losing to a mixed Braintree team. Their losing sequence also includes defeat at Royston (5½-2½) and a 5-3 reverse at Giron.

Following their mauling at the hands of Bury St Edmunds, the juniors turned the tables at home in a 4BBB match which they won 3½-½. However, a trip to Gosfield did not prove lucrative.

In the domestic holiday competition, the P. Franklin, Charlie Sigler continued his rich vein of form by winning the lower section with a 65 from Jack Harris.

Daniel Bradnam won the attached stableford with 41 points.

Ladies' April Stableford: H Eldred 36, M Kendall, G Wheatley 32, M Sail 31, S Carr, L Fish, S Playle 30, D Walker 28, D Kerchiss, G Richardson, A Fairhead 27, E Kiddy 26, S Price, J Condon, C Day 25, P Kennedy, P Ratford 24, V Tavener, J Stokes 23, S Price 22, M Mercer 21, A Thompson, P Wellstead 20, L Nichols 17, P McCallum 10, V Shipp 6.

Joe's effort all in vain

>> CRICKET

DESPITE a four-wicket haul for Joe Woodley and a half-century from Simon Youngs, Haverhill were beaten on the opening day of their Marshall Hatchick Two counties Championship campaign.

They won the toss at Maldon and put the home side in, Woodley taking 4 for 55 in their 209 for 6.

Haverhill's reply never got off the ground. At one stage they were 39 for 5 and limped to 152 for 7 on the back of Youngs' unbeaten 51, and 28 apiece from Adam Dellar and Dan Poole.

They will be hoping for better fortunes against Ipswich at home on Saturday.

Division Two: Felixstowe 238 for 5 (20) bt Mildenhall II 129 (4), Maldon 209 for 6 (18) bt Haverhill 152 for 7 (6).

■ The loss of the coin toss proved to be the decisive factor as Weston Colville went down to a two-wicket defeat to Fordham in the Tucker Gardner Partnership Cambs and Hunts League, Division Two.

Adie Westley's side were put in to bat first and, despite a solid 38 from opener Trevor Westley, suffered against Jason Harding (5 for 27). The skipper posted a useful 36 but they were all out for 136.

Fordham squeezed in at 137 for 8. Division Two: Kimbolton 71 (30) bt Castor 60 (8), Weston Colville 136 (6) lost to Fordham 137 for 8 (25), Abington 165 for 7 (30) bt Yaxley 103 (6), Bluntisham 155 (30) bt Saffron Walden II 122 (8), Barnack 142 (6) lost to Babraham 143 for 8 (25), Eaton Socon 93 (2) it to NCI 94 for 4 (25).

HUNT STRIKES BUT HAVERHILL'S HOPES OF SURVIVAL ARE BACK IN THE BALANCE

MARCUS Hunt's goal proved to do little for bottom club Haverhill's outside chances of avoiding the drop.

Shaun Banham twice went close for Rovers before Wroxham went ahead against the run of play.

Hunt levelled by poking home following a goalmouth scramble early in the second half.

But just as the game looked to be heading for a draw after Banham

Haverhill 1 Wroxham 3
Ridgeons League,
Premier Division

missed further opportunities, the visitors scored twice in the last three minutes to leave Haverhill empty-handed.

Manager Peter Betts said: "We missed a hatful of chances throughout the game, or it could have been very different."

Rovers are at home to Needham Market tonight (Thursday) and Kirkley & Pakefield on Saturday.
